

You do not need a minute hand to read the time. You can tell the time purely by where the hour hand is on the clock.

You do not need an hour hand to read the time. As long as you have the minute hand, you can tell the time.

What do you think?

